Questions 25–27

Dear John,

Thank you for your gongtang from Kinmen. My family and I have tried all of the gongtang you gave us, and our favorites are the salt and green tea flavors.

After I shared your trip to Kinmen with my family, they became interested in Kinmen. Therefore, my family and I will go to Kinmen next week. We'll visit many great places and enjoy their delicious food like you did. We will, of course, buy you a lot of gongtang. Besides gongtang, just feel free to tell me if you need me to bring back anything for you.

Your friend,
Mary

Dear Mary,

It's great to know you like the gongtang. Gongtang or peanut candy is unique to Kinmen. It's actually a mixture of peanuts and sugar. It used to be snacks for emperors in ancient China. Gongtang makers now add different things in gongtang. It's also common to have it with tea. You can give it a try!

I don't need anything from Kinmen. Just have fun with your family there. See you next week at school!

Best wishes,
John

Questions 28–30

Do you know that your shoes are very dirty? Some studies show that 39% of shoes have E. coli bacteria on them, and 96% of shoes have bacteria on the shoe bottoms. That's because different kinds of bacteria may get stuck to our shoes when we walk on sidewalks where dogs poop or when we use public restrooms.

These bacteria can cause stomach or eye problems. Therefore, to protect your health, you should not wear shoes into the house. If you have to, put them at a certain place in your house and then wash your hands when you touch them.

Q16

M: Maggie, it is raining. I don't think it will stop in an hour.

W: Oh, no. We can't go on a picnic today.

M: No, we can't. We can go tomorrow if the weather is good.

W: Well, OK.

Question: How's the weather?

Q17

M: Jessie, were you at home last night?

W: Yes, why?

M: I called you last night, but nobody answered.

W: You did? When?

M: Around eight.

W: I was cleaning the basement then. Sorry, I didn't hear the phone ring.

Question: What was Jessie doing at eight last night?

Q18

W: John, hurry up. We're almost late.

M: But I can't find my car keys.

W: Forget about driving your car. Let's take the subway to the office.

M: No. We'd better take a taxi.

Question: How will they go to work?

Q19

M: Do you watch The Cook on channel 12?
